CRYSTAL GLAZES

... are magical potions in a jar! Crystal glazes are nontoxic and lead-free. However, they should not be used inside food or drink containers because of their fired surface characteristics and possible crazing.

The contrasting colors in Crystal Glazes come from color pigment chips in the glaze that settle to the bottom of the jar. Stirring thoroughly is a MUST. Pour the glaze into a separate dish or bowl if it will help you stir it up well. If you wish, you can pick out the largest chips and apply them to the surface of the wet glaze by hand where you want them. Handle pieces with crystal glazes carefully before firing: the color chips can be brushed off easily.
