

Dear Teacher:

Welcome Back!

We hope this fall finds you back in your same classroom, with students exceptionally eager to begin or continue their education in the arts! We are all grateful for teachers like you who bring the beauty of this creative force into the educational process.

As the new year begins, it seems we are all continuing on the new and leaner path started several years ago. Along with your teaching duties, you have an even tighter and more restrained budget to work with. Super challenging, we know! For those of you with clay programs, or simply the desire to keep a clay project in your curriculum, we are here to support you in any way we can. At Georgies we do our best to bring you a high quality clay, while holding prices for as long as possible, and continuing to offer great discounts wherever and whenever possible.

We offer a FREE series of Teacher Classes that emphasize and build basic skills while they teach fun classroom projects. In our regular pottery classes we have room to “scholarship” a teacher or two to help with wheelthrowing or handbuilding skills that need polishing. We keep a list and update you if we have room.

And, of course, we have a great staff that is here to help via phone or in person! We also have email, and our website is full of helpful “how-to” information. Just click on the “How-To Techniques” button on the menu of the title page. We have all these techniques on easy downloadable PDF files so you can print and share them.

We know you are up to the challenge, and we are here to support you on this journey!

“It is art that makes life, makes interest, makes importance... and I know of no other substitute whatever for the force and beauty of its process.”

-- Henry James, writing in a 1915 letter to H. G. Wells
