As you can see, this is just a beginning of the possible combinations and possible firing schedules; although I will stay with these two for a while longer. In my tests I was working with a safety net ... trying to stay within a known set of glazes that were well behaved, not having a tendency to run on a vertical surface (with the exception of GLW03 Avocado Ice).

I live with the mantra taught to me by Pat Horsley: “Everything Matters and Nothing is the Same”. So with any testing that you do, the clay you use, your glaze application/thickness and the firing schedule - it all matters. Be sure to protect your kiln and shelves and expect to be surprised.

I’ll leave you with this direct comparison of our Ohata glaze. Firing truly has a significant impact on the results one can achieve and expect.

BE SURE TO TEST FOR YOUR INDIVIDUAL RESULTS!!
